Join us for a FREE art portfolio preparation seminar for parents and high school students with an interest in applying to art colleges. Featured artists Darren Inouye, Kin Lok, and Trisha Kim will share valuable information on how to prepare your portfolio for the application and acceptance into the art college of your choice, and how to be a successful artist while in college and after college. This seminar will be specially hosted by Rainbow Art, home to many successful artists. There will be LIMITED spaces, so please email or call to RSVP by June 6th.

What to expect and topics to be covered:

- first steps in building your portfolio
- skills needed to create a compelling portfolio and the amount of time it takes
- what art colleges look for in college applications
- practical steps to strengthen your portfolio presentation
- personal skills needed to succeed as an artist
- what to expect academically at art colleges
- art college majors and how they apply to real world careers
- question and answer time with the artists

DARREN INOUE // Darrenin.com (Art Center Alumnus)

Darren Inouye is a professional artist and currently an assistant art director at Radiance International Art Gallery in West Hollywood. His style melds realism with graphic abstract shapes and color to create surreal environments and narratives telling stories of life, hope, hardship, and faith.

KIN LOK // Lokkin.com (Art Center Alumnus, Los Angeles Academy of Figurative Art Alumnus)

Kin Lok is a children's book illustrator, author, and designer based in Los Angeles, and is passionate about creating books that will positively impact and greatly enrich the lives of children.

TRISHA KIM // Trishakim.com (Art Center Alumna)

Trisha Kim studied entertainment, arts, and illustration design at Art Center College of Design. She is a Los Angeles based artist, storyteller, and currently an assistant art director at Radiance International Art Gallery in West Hollywood. She is also teaches at Rainbow Art studio at Monterey Park.
